

KNOWING JESUS, WHO SUSTAINS AND ENABLES

JOHN 21:1-25

I. When His 'fishers of men' decided to catch fish, Jesus called them back (John 21:1-6).

- What did Jesus do when He called His disciples the first time (Luke 5:4-11)?
- When Jesus repeats lessons in our lives, what should we be doing?

II. When Peter realized it was Jesus he came and served (v.7-14).

- Were you ever amazed by the fact that Jesus already had fish cooking?
- How can a realization of the presence of Christ motivate you to come and to serve?

III. Jesus gave personal attention to the one who denied Him three times (v.15-19).

- How must Peter have felt about his repeated denials?
- What encouragement do you receive from the individual attention Jesus gave?
- What assurance can you have about your individual needs?

IV. Jesus encouraged Peter to be concerned about his own walk (v.20-23).

- What moves us to be so quick to want the blessings others receive?
- What is my responsibility, whatever happens in the lives of others?

V. We could write forever about the One who sustains and enables (v.24-25).

- How do we know that the accounts in John are true?
- How does the brevity of Scripture demonstrate its inspiration?

Call to Action: To gladly return to
and then serve the
One we have denied?

- Why do we tend to go back to comfortable lifestyles?
- Why do we need reminders of the risen Lord?
- Do you love Jesus more than things?
- How do you react to the blessings of others?
- Are you eager to again serve the One you have denied?

Call to Action: To gladly return to
and then serve the
One we have denied?

- Why do we tend to go back to comfortable lifestyles?
- Why do we need reminders of the risen Lord?
- Do you love Jesus more than things?
- How do you react to the blessings of others?
- Are you eager to again serve the One you have denied?

-How can we help?